Celebrity Bush Cook RANGER NICK

Who is Ranger Nick?

Often referred to as the "Guru" of camp oven cooking, Ranger Nick is the master of keeping it simple and has been demonstrating camp oven and bush cooking skills professionally since 2010, travelling the country and abroad.

He has gained quite a reputation as the entertaining Aussie Bush Cook, who sings and has plenty of yarns or poems to tell.

Keeping heritage and traditions alive, Ranger Nick draws crowds at his performances, appealing to young and old.

A previous environmental education support officer and Ranger Guide from outback Queensland, Ranger Nick is putting his bush skills to use wherever his travels take him, whipping up a cracker of a meal with whatever is in the tuckerbox.

When Ranger Nick is not cooking up a storm, he passes on his knowledge to fellow adventurers, or mentoring groups of youngsters, teaching them the art of bush skills, cooking and outdoor etiquette.

A World Record titleholder for the "Longest Damper", Ranger Nick frequently appears on radio, TV and podcasts, is the author of three books, the producer of educational products and has his own brand of merchandise.

Performance & Availability

Ranger Nick is available for camp oven cooking demonstrations or promotional work showcasing your company's products.

Whether it is at your corporate event or private function, Ranger Nick's cooking demonstrations always hold a lot of entertainment value.

Ranger Nick is available to perform and entertain at major festivals, expos, trade shows, schools, show days, markets, retail outlets, shopping complexes, camping grounds, community events, fundraisers, product launches, promotional activities and outdoor recreational facilities.
